Monday, December 2.

This day at 12 o'clock the fixth congress of the United States commenced its session. Mr. I. W. Condy, clerk. A committee was appointed to wait on the pressent for his committee was the committee where the committee was the constitution. The house then adjourned.

Tursday, December 3.

The president of the United States, agreeable to the notification given yesterday, came down at 12 o'clock, to the representative chamber, where both houses being assembled, his creetheney delivered the following.

S. P. E. C. H.:

Gentlemen of the Most constitution, that I meet the fixth congrets of the United States, as the sense, and sense of the House the special states of the United States of America. Comming from all parts of the Unitents.

The flattering prospects of the United States of America. Coming from all parts of the Unitents.

The flattering prospects of abundance from the labors of the people, by land and by fea; the prosperity of our extended commerce, notwithstanding interruptions occasioned by the beligerent state of a great part of the world; the return of health, industry and trade to these cities, which have lately been affired with different or an happy frame of government, are continued to us, usingpared; demand of the whole American people, lincere thanks to a inenvolent deity, for the merciful dispensations of his providence.

But, while these numerous bleshings are recollected, it is a painful duty to advert to the ungrateful return which has been made for them, by some of government, are continued to us, usingpared; demand of the whole American people, lincere thanks to a inenvolent deity, for the merciful dispensations of his providence.

But, while these numerous bleshings are recollected, it is a painful duty to advert to the ungrateful return which has been made for them, by some of government, are continued to us, usingpared; demand of the whole American people, lincere thanks to a inenvolent deity, for the merciful dispensations of designing men, they have openly resided the nume rous questions respecting the interpretations of the laws and the rights and duties of officers and citizens must arife. On the one hand, the laws should be executed; on the other, individuals should be guarded from oppression: Neither of these objects is smiciently assured, under the present organization of the judicial department, I therefore earnessly recommend the subject to your serion.

Perfevering in the pacific and humane policy which had been invariably proeficed and fineerely purfued by the executive authority of the United States; when indications were made, on the part of the French republic, of a disposition to accommodate the existing differences between the two countries; I fest it to be my duty to prepare for meeting their advances by a nomination of ministers, upon certain conditions, which the honor of our country dictated, to preserve the feat of our envoys, have been given thro their minister of foreign relations; and I have directed them to proceed on their mission to Paris. They have full power to conclude a treaty, subject to the constitutional advice and consent of the sense to constitution the sense of the fenate. The characters of the segmentements are sure pledges to their country, that nothing incompatible with its honor on interest, nothing incomfleten with its obligations of good faith or friendship to any other nation will be stipulated.

It appearing, probable, from the information I received that our commercial intercourse, with some ports, in the sissence of the continuity with the act of congress on the subject directed the restraints and prohibitions of that intercourse to be discontinued on terms which were made known by proclamation. Since the renewal of this intercourse our citizens trading to those proposed to the sixth article of the treaty of any other nations of that intercourse to be discontinued on terms which were made known by proclamation. Gentleman of the House of Representatives,

I shall direct the estimates of the appropriations, necessary for the service of the ensuing year, together with an account of the revenue and expenditure to be laid before you. During a period in which a great portion of the civilized world has been involved in a war, usually calamitous and destructive, it was not to be expected that the United States could be exempted from extraordinary burthens. Although the period is not arrived, when the measures adopted to secure occurry against foreignatuse can be renounced, yet it is alike necessary to the honor of the government, & the satisfaction of the community, that an exact economy should be unstained. I invite vou gentlement, to investigate the different branches of the public expenditue. The examination will least to beneficial retrenchments, or produce a conviction of the wisdom of the measure to which the expenditure relates.

Gentlemen of the Senate, and every hour is preparing new and great events in the political world—when a spirit of war is prevalent to almost every nation, with whose affairs the interest

We mentioned in our last paper that advices were received in this city of the French seet having been seen off the link coast.—We have since been favoured with the following extract from a letter which contained the news:—

"The French seet has failed from Brest, and has been seen off the Northern coast. Its object is faile to be a defect upon Ireland. I hope the report is without soundation, but have my fears on the subject; and these fears are encreasted by the circumstances, that five expresses the gravity of bubbin, (as it is said) with news to the government of the first importance; but what this news is has not yet transpired. Seven of the northern counters are again declared in a state of rebellion."

BY LAST EVENING'S MAIL.

RICHMOND, December 3.

It was yesterday reported that private letters were received from Fhiladelphia, which stated, that by a short arrival from Europe, intelligence had been received of another engagement having taken place in Holland, wherein 15,000 of the royal troops were taken prisoners. It was added that there had been a misunderstanding between the duke of York and gen. Abercromby, previous to the action—that the latter had commanded the troops on that day—and that he was afterwards arrested by order of the duke of York and was on his return to England, to be tried by a court martial. The Dutch, it was said, had refused to exchange prisoners without the British would return the vessels which had been furrendered up to them by the most perficious reachery. RICHMOND, December 3.

An arrival at Salem, in 60 days from Hamburgh, brings the Mercury of Europe down to September 25—which flates that Buonapare has been fuceelsful on the floores of the Red Sea, and is in very great force, and his army in high fpiritist. That Mr. Murray, our miniter at the Hague, fags the differences between us and the French Republic, are likey to be amicably fettled.
